Dear Mr. Secretary

I am writing to request your agency's comments concerning an administrative appeal brought by the Islander East Pipeline Company (Islander East or Appellant) before the Secretary of Commerce pursuant to the Coastal Zone Management Act (CZMA).¹ The appeal asks the Secretary to override the State of Connecticut's objection to Islander East's proposed natural gas pipeline that would extend from an interconnection with an existing pipeline near North Haven, Connecticut, to a terminus on Long Island, New York, affecting the natural resources or land and water uses of Connecticut's coastal zone. The Department's regulations implementing the CZMA require that interested Federal agencies be afforded an opportunity to comment on the appeal. See 15 C.F.R. §930.128(c).

The appeal is taken from an objection by the Connecticut Department of Environmental Protection to Islander East's consistency certification for permits requested from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission to construct and operate the proposed pipeline. Islander East's certification is required to indicate that the project is consistent with the State's coastal management program. The State's objection, if made in a timely fashion, precludes Federal agencies from granting licenses or permits required by the project, unless the objection is overridden by the Secretary. See CZMA section 307(c)(3)(A), 16 U.S.C. § 1456(c)(3)(A), and 15 C.F.R. § 930.64.

In this appeal, the Appellant has requested the Secretary to override the State's consistency objection on the two substantive grounds provided in the CZMA. The first ground requires the Secretary to determine that the proposed activity is "consistent with the objectives" of the CZMA. To make this determination, the Secretary must find that: (1) the proposed activity furthers the national interest as articulated in section 302 or 303 of the CZMA, in a significant or substantial manner; (2) the national interest furthered by the proposed activity outweighs the activity's adverse coastal effects, when those effects are considered separately or cumulatively; and (3) no reasonable alternative is available that would permit the proposed activity to be conducted in a manner consistent with the enforceable policies of the State of Connecticut's coastal zone management program. Dear Dr. Rice:

I am writing to request comments from your office concerning an administrative appeal brought by the Islander East Pipeline Company (Islander East or Appellant) before the Secretary of Commerce pursuant to the Coastal Zone Management Act (CZMA).¹ The appeal asks the Secretary to override the State of Connecticut's objection to Islander East's proposed natural gas pipeline that would extend from an interconnection with an existing pipeline near North Haven, Connecticut, to a terminus on Long Island, New York, affecting the natural resources or land and water uses of Connecticut's coastal zone. The Department's regulations implementing the CZMA require that interested Federal agencies be afforded an opportunity to comment on the appeal. See 15 C.F.R. §930.128(c).

The appeal is taken from an objection by the Connecticut Department of Environmental Protection to Islander East's consistency certification for permits requested from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission to construct and operate the proposed pipeline. Islander East's certification is required to indicate that the project is consistent with the State's coastal management program. The State's objection, if made in a timely fashion, precludes Federal agencies from granting licenses or permits required by the project, unless the objection is overridden by the Secretary. See CZMA section 307(c)(3)(A), 16 U.S.C. § 1456(c)(3)(A), and 15 C.F.R. § 930.64.

In this appeal, the Appellant has requested the Secretary to override the State's consistency objection on the two substantive grounds provided in the CZMA. The first ground requires the Secretary to determine that the proposed activity is "consistent with the objectives" of the CZMA. To make this determination, the Secretary must find that: (1) the proposed activity furthers the national interest as articulated in section 302 or 303 of the CZMA, in a significant or substantial manner; (2) the national interest furthered by the proposed activity outweighs the activity's adverse coastal effects, when those effects are considered separately or cumulatively; and (3) no reasonable alternative is available that would permit the proposed activity to be conducted in a manner consistent with the enforceable policies of the State of Connecticut's coastal zone management program. See 15 C.F.R. § 930.121.

The second substantive ground for overriding a State's objection considers whether the proposed activity is necessary in the interest of national security. To reach this conclusion, the Secretary must find that a national defense or other national security interest would be significantly impaired if the activity in question was not permitted to go forward as proposed. See 15 C.F.R. § 930.122.

The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration has been delegated the responsibility for undertaking many aspects of the CZMA administrative appeals process for the Secretary. In this context, I am requesting your office's views on any of the above issues about which it may wish to comment. I note that materials and related documents contained in the appeal record are being made available for public review via the Internet at <http://www.ogc.doc.gov/czma.htm>. Dear Mr. Williams

I am writing to request your agency's comments concerning an administrative appeal brought by the Islander East Pipeline Company (Islander East or Appellant) before the Secretary of Commerce pursuant to the Coastal Zone Management Act (CZMA).¹ The appeal asks the Secretary to override the State of Connecticut's objection to Islander East's proposed natural gas pipeline that would extend from an interconnection with an existing pipeline near North Haven, Connecticut, to a terminus on Long Island, New York, affecting the natural resources or land and water uses of Connecticut's coastal zone. The Department's regulations implementing the CZMA require that interested Federal agencies be afforded an opportunity to comment on the appeal. See 15 C.F.R. §930.128(c).

The appeal is taken from an objection by the Connecticut Department of Environmental Protection to Islander East's consistency certification for permits requested from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission to construct and operate the proposed pipeline. Islander East's certification is required to indicate that the project is consistent with the State's coastal management program. The State's objection, if made in a timely fashion, precludes Federal agencies from granting licenses or permits required by the project, unless the objection is overridden by the Secretary. See CZMA section 307(c)(3)(A), 16 U.S.C. § 1456(c)(3)(A), and 15 C.F.R. § 930.64.

In this appeal, the Appellant has requested the Secretary to override the State's consistency objection on the two substantive grounds provided in the CZMA. The first ground requires the Secretary to determine that the proposed activity is "consistent with the objectives" of the CZMA. See 15 C.F.R. § 930.121.

The second substantive ground for overriding a State's objection considers whether the proposed activity is necessary in the interest of national security. To reach this conclusion, the Secretary must find that a national defense or other national security interest would be significantly impaired if the activity in question was not permitted to go forward as proposed. See 15 C.F.R. § 930.122.

Re Extension of Due Date for Federal Agency Comments - Consistency Appeal of Islander East Pipeline Company, L.L.C.

Dear Ms. Burton

This letter advises of an extension in the due date for comments requested by our letter dated January 31, 2003 (copy enclosed) concerning the Islander East Pipeline Company's administrative appeal. The appeal, pending before the Secretary of Commerce pursuant to the Coastal Zone Management Act (CZMA), involves the proposed construction of a natural gas pipeline that would extend from near North Haven, Connecticut to Long Island, New York.

Should your agency be interested in submitting comments concerning the appeal, please be advised that the original due date – April 14, 2003 – has been extended through May 1, 2003. The extension results from a stay in the proceedings granted at the request of the parties which are interested in undertaking settlement discussions. Agency comments received during the period of the stay will be accepted and included in the appeal record. Assuming processing of the appeal resumes, an additional extension of the federal agency comment period beyond May 1st will be announced following recommencement. The additional extension will be commensurate, in general, with the length of the stay.

Dear Ms. Burton

I am writing to request your agency's comments concerning an administrative appeal brought by the Islander East Pipeline Company (Islander East or Appellant) before the Secretary of Commerce pursuant to the Coastal Zone Management Act (CZMA).¹ The appeal asks the Secretary to override the State of Connecticut's objection to Islander East's proposed natural gas pipeline that would extend from an interconnection with an existing pipeline near North Haven, Connecticut, to a terminus on Long Island, New York, affecting the natural resources or land and water uses of Connecticut's coastal zone. The Department's regulations implementing the CZMA require that interested Federal agencies be afforded an opportunity to comment on the appeal. See 15 C.F.R. §930.128(c).

The appeal is taken from an objection by the Connecticut Department of Environmental Protection to Islander East's consistency certification for permits requested from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission to construct and operate the proposed pipeline. Islander East's certification is required to indicate that the project is consistent with the State's coastal management program. The State's objection, if made in a timely fashion, precludes Federal agencies from granting licenses or permits required by the project, unless the objection is overridden by the Secretary. See CZMA section 307(c)(3)(A), 16 U.S.C. § 1456(c)(3)(A), and 15 C.F.R. § 930.64.

In this appeal, the Appellant has requested the Secretary to override the State's consistency objection on the two substantive grounds provided in the CZMA. The first ground requires the Secretary to determine that the proposed activity is "consistent with the objectives" of the CZMA. To make this determination, the Secretary must find that: (1) the proposed activity furthers the national interest as articulated in section 302 or 303 of the CZMA, in a significant or substantial manner; (2) the national interest furthered by the proposed activity outweighs the activity's adverse coastal effects, when those effects are considered separately or cumulatively; and (3) no reasonable alternative is available that would permit the proposed activity to be conducted in a manner consistent with the enforceable policies of the State of Connecticut's coastal zone management program. See 15 C.F.R. § 930.121.

The second substantive ground for overriding a State's objection considers whether the proposed activity is necessary in the interest of national security. To reach this conclusion, the Secretary must find that a national defense or other national security interest would be significantly impaired if the activity in question was not permitted to go forward as proposed. See 15 C.F.R. § 930.122.

The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration has been delegated the responsibility for undertaking many aspects of the CZMA administrative appeals process for the Secretary. In this context, I am requesting your agency's views on any of the above issues about which it may wish to comment. I note that materials and related documents contained in the appeal record are being made available for public review via the Internet at <http://www.ogc.doc.gov/czma.htm>.
